

I use satellite radio because I get sick of the bunk the local (Denver) radio stations churn out and because there is no effective coverage in the geographical area I travel (Intermountain West). Weather information is available from many other sources than radio. News is usually too local (or biased) to be of much interest.